AUNT BETTY GOODWIN PASSES

Friend of Boys in Three Wars Dies After Trip to Old Home—Many Gather To Pay Final Tribute—Was Beloved by Little Ones

Miss Elizabeth Goodwin, "Aunt Betty" as she was known to all Ontarians, especially by all the boys and girls whose particular friend she was, and they were many, died at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Taylor on the Eastside last Saturday morning. Funeral services were attended by a host of her friends.

The church was beautifully decorated with the floral tributes of her friends, young and old. The church choir sang a number of her favorite hymns and Mrs. H. L. Peterson sang, Lead Kindly Light.

Aunt Betty who was nearly ninety years of age returned to Ontario just a few weeks ago from a visit to her old home in Missouri. The heartache which followed the visit to the graves of her parents, her brothers and sisters and friends of her generation, together with the fatigue of the long trip proved too much for her failing strength and brought on a nervous illness from which she died.

"Aunt Betty" made her home with Mr. and Mrs. Taylor for the past 25 years, and came with them to Ontario ten years ago. She was Mrs. Taylor's aunt, but her affection widened to all those about her, especially the children all of whom fondly called "Aunt Betty."

"Aunt Betty as she often said, was born amid the green fields of old Virginia, November 18, 1832. She remained there with her parents until four years of age when her mother died. Then she went to Missouri where her father became owner of a large farm. Naturally being energetic and active she developed every muscle and enjoyed to the full all the out-door sports known to the girlhood of that day.

"The country was sparsely settled and schools far apart so her opportunities for learning were indeed poor. But possessing a brilliant and receptive mind she acquired more than an ordinary education.

When thirteen she became a member of the Presbyterian church of which she remained a loyal adherent until death.

When she reached young womanhood she was considered one of the most beautiful and popular of the whole country side. She was democratic in her friendships although she loved everybody. Children were just a little nearer and dearer than grown-ups. To her children and flowers were "the forgotten-ones of angels."

She was active through three wars and worked and prayed for the boys in each. She was an expert with her needle and spun, wove and made suits for the boys in gray—yes and made a few for the boys in blue. During the Spanish-American war she made handkerchiefs, neckties and such presents as she could send. In the days of the world war she knit thirteen pairs of socks even though far advanced in years.

She has been a resident of Ontario ten years and was generous, always mindful of others and was ever a help to the poor and distressed.
